Radio-TV Guild Sponsors Banquet And Workshop

San Francisco State's Radio-TV Guild will present its fifth annual Workshop and Banquet on Thursday, March 31. The workshop is scheduled to begin at noon and the banquet at 6:30 p. m.

Included in the workshop will be two panel discussions, a tour of the Radio department studios, and a showing of a kinescope of San Francisco State college made by "Success Story" last October.

The first panel is entitled "Cold Cruel World" and will consist of members of the broadcast and advertising field in the area.

"Current Trends in Television" will be the topic of the second panel and the members will be program directors of the Bay Area commercial stations.

Awards will be presented by the guild at the banquet, which will be held in the College Union, to the radio station and the television station which are considered to have done the most to foster local live programming.

The San Francisco State college Humanities Club will present a record session on Thursday, March 24, at 1 p. m., in CA 201.

The recordings will feature T. S. Eliot reading parts from his poems. The records are taken from the Creative Arts library and are otherwise unavailable to students.

S. F. State Graduate Will Return to Teaching Field

Mr. Jack Healy, Administrator of Student Affairs of the Associated Students of San Francisco State college, submitted his resignation to the Board of Directors in a surprise move Tuesday.

In a letter to Student Body President Bob Horn, Mr. Healy declared that it was with a great deal of regret that he terminates his very enjoyable relationship with the board, but that he has made plans for the fall to start teaching on a full-time basis.

SUCCEEDED BOB KATZ

Healy was appointed to succeed former Administrator Bob Katz in September, 1952. Since that time he has worked closely with the Board of Directors in planning student activities.

Majoring in Business Education, Healy graduated from S. F. State college in June, 1950. He received a secondary credential in June, 1951, at which time he was also appointed business manager of the student body.

In his undergraduate years he served on the Boards of Control and Athletic Control. He was elected treasurer of the Associated Students in 1950. His collegiate career was preceded by a two-year stint

ALPHA PHI GAMMA ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Alpha Phi Gamma, national journalism fraternity, elected Hank Cunningham president of the organization at a recent meeting.

Assisting Cunningham will be: John Maxwell, first vice president; Dave Krug, second vice president; Carol Bondshu, secretary-treasurer, and Edith Gould, organizational advisor.

The fraternity plans for the coming semester include a journalism day on campus, and the publishing of the Alligator, a student handbook which is distributed to entering students every year.

in the Army of Occupation in Korea from 1945 to 1946.

Since September, 1953, Healy has served as a part-time instructor in the Business Division.

VALUABLE EXPERIENCE

Contacted by the Gater, Healy said, "I have enjoyed and greatly profited from my association with the Associated Students and the college over the last few years. I am sure that the experience that I have

Sapien Scheduled For April Issue

The first week in April is the scheduled publication date for the second issue of Sapien Magazine, the new socio-literary magazine produced, written, and published by San Francisco State college students.

According to Michel Quihilt, one of the "publishing associates," material in the Spring edition will include:

SHORT FANTASY

By Carl Ansberry, Jr., a short fantasy entitled "Childhood of Ether." Ansberry is a senior in creative writing.

Stephen T. Davis, who, as Quihilt says, "needs no introduction" to SFSC, has authored a short story, "Sand and the Spider." Davis is a graduate student at State.

DRAMATIC FORM

Should Olympic Athletes Receive U. S. Subsidies?

By LEROY PACINI

Much has been said of late about the Soviet Union building toward superiority in the Olympic Games. It has been said that Russian athletes are in reality pros, subsidized by the state and existing for the sole purpose of Red propagandists who can claim Communist nations are breeding a super race.

Many American newspapermen, Olympic officials and diplomats have been contending that we pamper our athletes, and had better start spending government money not only to educate them mentally, but physically as well.

DIPLOMATIC BLOW?

If we cannot achieve absolute victory in the 1956 Olympics, it is said, we will suffer a crippling diplomatic blow.

Although this writer would personally like to see the United States chase the Reds right out of the stadium, we think it is about time that the American people started thinking in terms of the true spirit of the Olympic Games.

UNITING A NATION

The Olympic Games were originated in Hellas (Greece) in 776 B. C., for the purpose of uniting a nation torn by warring tribes and cities that each possessed their own king. Once the momentary truces were called and athletic rather than warlike competition was tasted, the warring tribes soon forgot their bitterness.

Shortly after the first games, Greece was a united nation. The games were not held to bring glory to the cities or tribes, but to the individuals. Even the "scoring" system now used, is simply a gimmick devised by sports writers.

SCORING SYSTEM

Any nation can use its own scoring system, as the Russians did last time, and declare themselves winners if they have brilliant enough mathematicians. Officially, nations never win; only individuals.

The Olympics have changed relatively little since 776 B. C., and there is no reason why their original purpose shouldn't be carried on. If the Russians have lost sight of the fact that there are supposedly no political issues involved in the games, there is no reason why we should.

EXAMPLE FOR OTHERS

To use an oft-quoted cliché

that strangely still has some use, two wrongs don't make a right. As leaders, we should set an example. The Soviet Union isn't fooling anyone that still has the freedom to draw their own conclusions. It is their business if they want to show the Free World that they can achieve a hollow, unfair victory. This is one case where fire can't be fought with fire, and when greater physical superiority brings cheaper victory.

If the United States don't have enough confidence in their athletes to think they can win fairly in the role of underdogs, then they deserve to lose. It is not THAT you win, by HOW you win. We're the only nation that doesn't send our team to the Olympic Games on government money.

Expenses are paid by the people, which is only right, since they represent the people of the United States and not a political system.

When the day comes that our athletes are told that they MUST win a game at all cost, then we will have no right to criticize others. We can win without pros. And that WILL be a victory to be proud of.

'Lullaby in Birdland'

Tropical Theme Is Featured At Freshman Class Dance

Calendar

FRIDAY, March 18 — Swimming, 4 p. m., Cal Aggies at Davis; wrestling, 8 p. m., California at S. F. State; Frosh Club executive meeting, 12 noon, Hut T-1.

SATURDAY, March 19 — Baseball, 12:30 p. m., San Jose State at San Francisco.

TUESDAY, March 22 — Frosh Club, 7:30 p. m., Activities Room; Tri Gamma Cake Sale, 11 to 1 p. m., front of gym; Model U. N. 1-2 p. m., BSS 127; baseball, 3:15 p. m., Presidio at S. F. Tropical scenes featuring hundreds of multi-colored birds will provide the atmosphere for "Lullaby in Birdland," a dance sponsored by the Frosh Class, to be presented in the Women's Gym, 9 to 1 a. m., Friday, March 25.

Couples will dance to the music of Jack Periera and his combo. Periera, who has appeared at past S. F. State dances, is president of the Music Federation.

The group will provide danceable music for everyone's enjoyment, according to Ed Sullivan, Freshman Class president.

Dress for the dance will be sport. Tickets, which can be purchased at the door, are priced at 75 cents stag and $1.25 per couple.

Members of the dance committee include Francine Gallo, floor committee; Bill Zettler, decorations; Pat McCormick, Sandy Strickler, and Jann Sturgen, publicity; and Bobbi Morrison, refreshments.

Why Is There Lack Of School Spirit?

John P. Maxwell is presently serving as editorial assistant on the Golden Gater. He is a former news editor of the Gater and has served as chairman of the Board of Publications. From his experience in student government Maxwell has formed definite opinions concerning the ASSFSC. The following column explores what Maxwell believes to be a dangerous trend in student body government.—Editor.

By JOHN P. MAXWELL

Student government officers from time immemorial at S. F. State, have decried the lack of school spirit among students and the dirth of participation in college functions, events, and social activities.

From the height of what they consider their position of righteousness, the student officials condemn the general student body for its all-edged apathy. Could it be that these officers, realizing their incapacities, are striking out blindly against the judgment of the general student body as evidenced in its disinterest?

APATHY INHERENT HERE

There are others who contend that apathy is inherent in commuter colleges. Is this explanation valid or is there a more basic one? How many of your fellow students do you know who are active in civic, religious, or social groups apart from the campus? There are probably quite a few.

Students interested in local and national government who attend political meetings around town and campaign from door to door during election time. Are these the apathetic ones?

Students who organize and maintain church groups that sponsor activities for charity. Can this be apathy?

ALIVE OUTSIDE SCHOOL

Students who are active in such social organizations as: YMCA, Lions, Masons, Rotary, and various veterans' groups. A fair proportion of time is spent by a majority of students in this way rather than at college functions. Is this apathy?

All of the above people are far from apathetic but yet they won't touch the ASSFSC with a 10-foot pole. Why? . . . It might be a good time for our student officers to take stock of their motivations and accomplishments since undertaking office.

ABORTIVE ISSUES

Probably only one piece of major legislation has been introduced by members of the Board of Directors since last June. There have been quite a few abortive issues brought up and acted upon incompetently. Voting members have exercised their privilege without investigating what they were acting on. This situation moved one member to remark, "The board is very susceptible—that is, susceptible to vote the way anyone tells them to."

The Activities Commission was very active with the Freshman Class last semester which caused one wit to remark, "They were made for each other."

NEGATIVE PERSONALITY?

The Model U. N. Conference to be held at S. F. State in May, can be said to be by far the most important undertaking of the ASSFSC this year. Yet due to the negative personality of its leader, it cannot muster the required number of personnel necessary to insure success.

The Golden Gater has declined to the level of a bulletin board with its only notoriety

Construction of Health Center Starts in May

Construction of a $100,000 Health Center for S. F. State college will begin at the end of this semester, Dean John Butler announced this week.

To be located north of the Education Building and west of the paved courts, the new one-story frame and stucco building will be large enough to staff four doctors and a medical officer.

The building will contain a waiting room, business office, medical director's office, two examination rooms adjoining each of the four doctor's offices, a therapy room with whirlpool baths, a drug room, and a nurses' room.

According to Dean Butler, construction of the building should begin by the end of May or the first of June, and should be ready for occupancy by next semester.

Dean Butler declared: "The two best features of the Health Center are: first, that the build-

Student Answers Belaid

Editor—Mr. Belaid's article on "persecution" in Algeria leaves much to be desired. In the first place, the "nightmare of fantasy out of some medieval era" is not exclusively the product of Colonialism.

Many American Negroes from the South could tell stories that would make Mr. Belaid's sound like a benign children's fairy tale.

France has long been known for having the most liberal Colonial policy among the larger powers. If Algeria's European population is 10 per cent of the total, that is 100 times more than most colonies, where ing is so carefully planned that it will be one of the most efficient centers in the country for its size, and, second, that it is so flexible in its function that it can be expanded at some later date with no loss in its efficiency."

one-tenth of 1 per cent is the usual.

France extends her family subsidy (a yearly sum for each child) to Arabs and Europeans alike. In this respect, the Arab father is way ahead of his European counterpart as he can have more than one wife producing at once. This hardly seems like discrimination!

I wonder, if educational and economic opportunities are so scarce for Arabs, how did Mr. Belaid get to S. F. State? We do have some entrance requirements.

I also wonder if Mr. Belaid has seen what has happened to various other small countries that have been given their independence? The picture is rather bloody.

I would be very interested in hearing a French student, who would be much more informed than I, give the other side of the controversy.

There's even more to Chevrolet styling than meets the eye!

This is beauty with a bonus . . . for Chevrolet styling is designed to add safety and comfort while you drive, and to return greater value when you trade.

Truly modern lines are shaped by usefulness. You can see what we mean in the deep crystal curve of Chevrolet's Sweep-Sight windshield . . . a dramatic style note, certainly, but one that stems from the need for wider, safer vision. Or take high-set taillights—they add to the impressive length of line . . . but they are up where they can be seen for safety's sake.

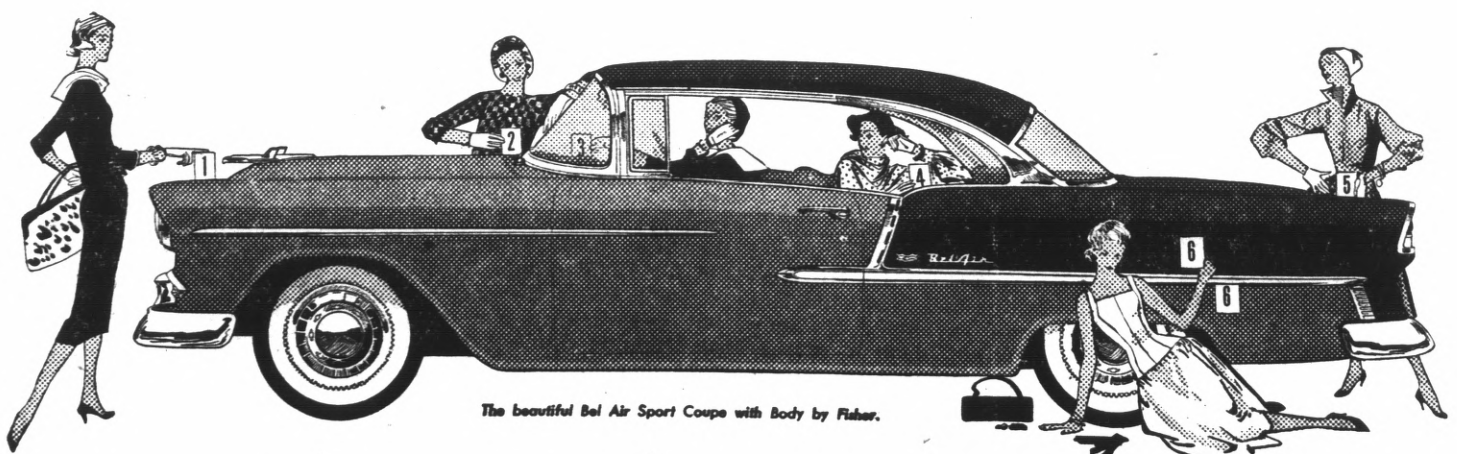

The smart louvers across the hood aren't just decoration . . . they mark the intake for the High-Level ventilation system for cleaner, fresher air. And the whole shape of the body—its lowness, the dipped belt line—is merely a reflection of a lowered center of gravity, the added stability.

This is truly functional styling that serves you better every mile, and preserves its value against the distant day when you trade. This is Body by Fisher—another Chevrolet exclusive in the low-price field. Come in and let us demonstrate that this new Chevrolet is just as exciting to drive as to look at!

NOTHING

(The Sum Total of This Column's Worth)

By HANK CUNNINGHAM

Last week I stated that Loyola University not only blasted State's valiant attempt to gain a berth on the train to Kansas City (pun son), but had also defeated Chico State the previous year in a similar situation. This, as I was belatedly informed, is incorrect. Pasadena Nazarene college topped Chico in the 1954 regional play-offs and went on to the NAIA tourney.

Inexcusable Blunder

Such a blunder is inexcusable, though, of course, I do have a beautiful list of excuses anyway. The chief reason is simply that I wasn't here last year and, consequently, had no knowledge of the facts. When it came time to pound out another edition of NOTHING I asked a quick question, got a quick answer and wrote a quick column. The result was a big, fat boo-boo!

Needless to say I received a speedy trial, was found guilty and was awarded the customary sentence. (Boo-boos are punishable by not less than one, nor more than 13 days in the electric chair.)

Other Information Is True

The rest of the information printed in this column last week is true, and the views expressed remain unchanged. Any system which allows a team qualified for NCAA competition to duck out of that competition when the going gets rough and enter the NAIA race, is not only showing favoritism to that team, but is doing the smaller colleges a grave injustice. Nuff said.

Spartans Meet Gators in Twin Bill Tomorrow

San Jose State invades the swamp of the Golden Gators tomorrow for a baseball double-header which gets under way at 10:30 a. m.

Tomorrow's twin bill will be the only meeting of the two clubs this season. Last year, San Jose defeated San Francisco, 4-3, in a single meeting.

San Jose is coached by veteran mentor Walt Williams who is in his eighth season as head baseball coach for the Spartans.

This year's squad from the Peninsula school is composed of 17 newcomers and only seven lettermen. Four lettermen of last year could not even make this year's squad, however.

Possible starting line-ups are:

S. F. STATE	Pos.	SAN JOSE
Rosenberg	lf	Colombo
Korich	cf	Reynolds
Vallejo	rf	Walters
Quattrin	3b	Wolfe
Jackson	ss	Rahming
Murphy	2b	Anderson
Beach	1b	Brady
Conley	c	Clifford
Lee	p	Dick

Next Tuesday, the Gators will host Presidio at 3:15 p. m.

General Meeting Of WAA Mar. 24

There will be a general meeting of the Women's Athletic Association, Thursday, March 24, from 1 to 2 p. m. in the patio grounds in the gymnasium.

Everyone interested is invited to attend the meeting, which will consist of an introduction of the officers and advisors, an explanation of the purpose of WAA and how to become a member.

Entertainment and refreshments will be provided.

State Netmen Vie With Cal Aggies

S. F. State's netmen open their official 1955 schedule when they meet the Cal Aggies of Davis this afternoon on the local courts.

Coach Dan Farmer has listed Stan Allshuler, Sam Tipman, and Gene Ravagleoli as among the top players expected to see action.

Aiding these men in their struggle for victory will be David Richardson, Norman Sui, Mike Blass and John Gardner.

GOLFERS MEET USF TUESDAY AFTERNOON

The San Francisco State golfers will tee off with their cross-town neighbors, the University of San Francisco, next Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock in Sharp Park.

The Dons will be a good test for the Gator golfers, who open their double round-robin league schedule next Friday against Humboldt State, Sacramento State and Cal Aggies, also at Sharp Park. The Gators are aiming for their seventh straight Far Western Conference championship.

SCIENCE MADE SIMPLE: NO. 2

Though this column is intended solely as a vehicle for well-tempered drollery, the makers of Philip Morris have agreed to let me use this space from time to time for a short lesson in science. They are the most decent and obliging of men, the makers of Philip Morris, as one would guess from sampling their product. Only from bounteous hearts could come such a pleasurable cigarette—so felicitously blended, so gratifying to the taste, so soothing to the psyche. And, as though bringing you the most agreeable cigarette on the market were not enough, the makers of Philip Morris have enclosed their wares in the Snap-Open Pack, an ingeniously contrived wrapping that yields up its treasure without loss of time or cuticle. And, finally, this paragon of cigarettes, wrapped in the paragon of packages, can be had in king-size or regular, as your taste dictates. Who can resist such a winning combination? Not I.

A few weeks ago in this column we had a brief lesson in chemistry. Today we take up another attractive science—medicine.

Medicine was invented in 1066 by a Greek named Hippocrates. He soon attracted around him a group of devoted disciples whom he called "doctors". The reason he called them "doctors" was that they sat around a dock all day. Some fished, some just dozed in the noonday sun. In truth, there was little else for them to do, because disease was not invented until 1492.

After that doctors became very busy, but, it must be reported, their knowledge of medicine was lamentably meagre. They knew only one treatment—a change of climate. For example, a French doctor would send all his patients to Switzerland; a Swiss doctor, on the other hand, would send all his patients to France. By 1789 the entire population of France was living in Switzerland, and vice versa. This later became known as the Black Tom Explosion.

Not until 1924 did medicine, as we know it, come into being. In that year in the little Bavarian village of Pago-Pago an elderly physician named Winko Sigafoos discovered the hot water bottle. He was, of course, burned as a witch, but his son Lydia, disguised as a linotype, smuggled the hot water bottle out of the country. He called on Florence Nightingale in London but was told by her housekeeper, with some asperity, that Miss Nightingale had died in 1910. Lydia muttered something and, disguised as a feather boa, made his way to America, where he invented the blood stream.

Medicine, as it is taught at your very own college, can be divided roughly into two classifications. There is internal medicine, which is the treatment of internes, and external medicine, which is the treatment of externes.

Diseases also fall into two broad categories—chronic and acute. Chronic disease, is of course, inflammation of the chron, which can be mighty painful, believe you me! Last summer my cousin Haskell was stricken with a chron attack while out picking up tinfoil, and it was months before the wretched boy could straighten up. In fact, even after he was cured, Haskell continued to walk around bent over double. This went on for some weeks before Dr. Caligari, the lovable old country practitioner who treats Haskell, discovered that Haskell had his pants buttoned to his vest.

Two years ago Haskell had Addison's disease. (Addison, curiously enough, had Haskell's.) Poor Haskell catches everything that comes along. Lovable old Dr. Caligari once said to him, "Son, I guess you are what they call a natural born catcher."

"The joke is on you, Doc," replied Haskell. "I am a third baseman." He thereupon fell into such a fit of giggling that the doctor had to put him under sedation, where he is to this day.

But I digress. We were discussing medicine. I have now told you all I can; the rest is up to you. Go over to your medical school and poke around. Bring popcorn and watch an operation. Fiddle with the X-ray machines. Contribute to the bone bank . . . And, remember, medicine can be fun!

gained here will be of much value in my future work."

Student Body Treasurer Le-Vell Holmes said, "Jack Healy's resignation came as a great surprise to all the members of the Board of Directors. Because of Healy's long experience at S. F. State as a student, student body officer, part-time teacher, and administrator of student affairs, I feel that we will never get anyone who worked as well with the students as Jack did. The board accepts Jack's resignation with a great deal of regret. We all wish him the best of luck in the future."

EFFECTIVE SEPTEMBER 1

Although Healy's resignation does not take effect until September 1, he said it was submitted at this early time "to allow the Board of Directors, along with the other people concerned, time to study the position and see exactly how they want it continued."

"I hope," Healy continued, "to work with the Board of Directors in determining exactly what they want to do with the position of administrator. I think that they should work with all people on the campus in an effort to determine what the job should be in the future."

Temple Broz Named as Social Work President

At a recent meeting of the S. F. State College Social Work Club, Temple Broz was elected to replace Carmen Trasvina as president of the group.

Other officers are Juan Trasvina, vice president; Jane Richardson, secretary; and Henry Tong, treasurer.

The next meeting of the club will be held Friday evening, March 25, 8 o'clock, at 300 Page street. Topic of the meeting will be "Should Social Workers Be in Politics."

ELDREDGE NAMED AS AFROTC WING LEADER

AFROTC Cadet Lieutenant Colonel George L. Eldredge has been promoted to the rank of cadet colonel, effective March 7.

Cadet Colonel Eldredge is the cadet wing commander of the 80th AFROTC Cadet Wing located at S. F. State.

On March 7, he was awarded the Exceptional Service Ribbon for his meritorious contributions to the 80th AFROTC Cadet Wing during the Fall Semester, 1954.

Twenty-One Plus Club Elects Spring Officers

The Twenty-One Plus Club, organized to sponsor social and cultural activities for students over the age of 21, recently elected Vic Lisbon president of the organization.

Other new officers are: Johnny Bates, vice president; Sharel Johnston, secretary; Vera Preston, treasurer; Carolyn Snow, recording secretary; and Bernadine Ledy, publicity director.

The next meeting of the group will be held Tuesday, March 22 at noon in the Activities Room of the Administration Building. At that time, a vote will be taken to determine the next activity that the club will hold.

Bernadine Ledy, publicity director, urged all students over 21 to attend the meeting.

Econ Club Elects Heads

The Economics Club is holding a meeting Tuesday, March 22, at 8:35 a. m. in Room 109 of BSS.

Dr. Thomas Lantos, social science professor, urges all interested persons to attend the meetings, which is being held for the purpose of electing officers.

Creative Arts Bulletin Makes Reappearance

The reappearance of the Creative Arts Bulletin last Friday, under the editorship of George Gill of the Players' Club, marked the second attempt within a year to establish a publication for the Creative Arts division.

A bi-monthly, the Bulletin is designed to "promote unity among students of the division and promote intelligent criticism, evaluation and publicity of Creative Arts events." It will be published on Fridays.

Although the first Bulletin failed, the CA division hopes for greater response to the new publication from the various departments of the division and a greater contribution by other allied interests in the college.

ernment have done little or nothing to enhance their positions or to dignify their offices and have failed to inaugurate a comprehensive activities program encompassing the interests of all the students.

The only attempt made in this direction was at the Board of Directors Retreat over a month ago. It was only a half-hearted attempt at that, because the participants would only recognize very few issues as problems to be dealt with. To date, copies of the recommendations made are not available and the college newspaper has printed nothing on it.

We who did not vote in last year's election can find satisfaction in the fact that these "leaders" are not really representative of the entire student body as only 20 per cent of the enrollment cast their vote.

General elections for next year's officers are not too far off and it would be a relief to see some new faces running for office. There might even be a few mature and responsible individuals who could conduct vigorous campaigns built on solutions to the more vital issues. They might rejuvenate student government and resurrect the standards for political office, resulting in general student-wide interest.

COLLEGE TO COLLEGE, COAST TO COAST—

WINSTON is really going to town!

WINSTON tastes good — like a cigarette should!

■ No wonder so many college men and women are getting together on Winston! It's the filter cigarette with real flavor — full, rich, tobacco flavor! And Winston also brings you a finer filter. It works so effectively, yet doesn't "thin" the taste. Winstons are easy-drawing, too — there's no effort to puff!
